

Coronavirus (COVID-19) Update and NCCAOM Exams

NCCAOM is closely monitoring the impact and spread of the coronavirus in the U.S. and abroad. NCCAOM's headquarters and operations remain unaffected by the COVID-19 outbreak. We are constantly evaluating the situation with news from the Center for Disease Control \(CDC\), World Health Organization \(WHO\) and other government sources and will provide updates as the situation evolves.

If, in the event the Washington D.C. metro area is affected by mandatory quarantine, candidates may experience delays in the processing of their applications. We understand the impact this may have on candidates preparing to take the national certification exams and Diplomates recertifying. We are committed to maintaining the operations of all our services as smoothly and efficiently as possible.

Pearson VUE, our test administration vendor, is evaluating test center closures very closely, particularly in countries greatly affected by the virus where we administer our exams to include China, South Korea, Japan, and Italy. They are constantly monitoring specific government actions, to assess whether there will be any closing and its impact on our candidates. Pearson VUE continues to post test center closures here. NCCAOM will work with candidates impacted by closures due to the virus and candidates who need to reschedule due to a positive test for the virus.

We have included the links below with the latest information of the spread of this virus in the U.S. and abroad:
